

moar reptiles, pl0x

Posted by iMattR - 05 Sep 2012 11:36

Hey, people. As some of you were very happy with Zeus and think he's adorable, which he is (and if you don't believe so, then I'm coming for you with a switchblade) I'm quite pleased to say that I'm considering getting more reptiles! So, on this post, I'm giving a list of reptiles I'm thinking of getting or want. And hell, I'll probably even update it in the future.

Leopard Gecko

Leopard Gecko's are freaking adorable. They're not as obviously scaled as a bearded dragon, and don't have spikes, so they're very... round little creatures. They're easy to handle, and enjoy attention just as much as a bearded dragon does and have a pretty similar diet. I'm definitely considering getting two of these in the future, as they enjoy interaction with other leopard geckos, unlike bearded dragons who aren't unless brought up together.

Tree Monitor

Golden Gecko

Very similar to a leopard gecko, just different colouring (and maybe environment). Again, definitely a thumbs up for this one, but I think I'd have to get a pair.

Royal/Ball Python

This one, I'm not seeing me getting while I still live at home - but my god, they're adorable. Docile, simple diet (pinkies, vegetable, mice, rats; all dependant on age) and love human interaction. I prefer the "royal" python to the "ball" python, but the only reason it's called the "ball" python is because when they're threatened, they'll curl up into a ball for defence. They grow up to 5ft I believe, which would be freaking amazing for walking around with! The only downside is, I can't get one of these while I live at home, because my parents can deal with average reptiles... just not snakes.

So, that's my list of reptiles I want! I'm probably going to add to it in the future, and hell, if I get one I'll let you guys know and post pictures like I did with Zeus.

Re: moar reptiles, pl0x

Posted by VooDoo - 05 Sep 2012 12:55

All I can say is.. "LOL! TREE MONITOR = MASSIVE HEAD" (on that picture anyway)

Ehm... i think the cutest looking on there is the leopard gecko by far.

Re: moar reptiles, pl0x

Posted by VoGon - 05 Sep 2012 13:19

Why dont you get one of these Geckos?